Morning Worship

11th July 2010

Speaker: Mr Andrew McCullough

'Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own'

Matthew 6 v 34

WELCOME

If you are a visitor to our congregation today, we extend to you a warm welcome. We also extend a welcome to our speaker this morning, Mr Andrew McCullough. Andrew comes from the Faith Mission and joins with us this morning as Rev. Boyle is with the folks in Leitrim and Castlewellan. We are always delighted to have visitors join with us as we worship the Lord. We hope you will be blessed, encouraged and challenged through the service. Let us encourage you to really enter into the worship with all your heart.

A man was filling out a job application when he came to the question “Have you ever been arrested?” He wrote, “No.” The next question, intended for people who had answered “Yes” to the previous question, was “Why?” The applicant answered it anyway: “I never got caught.” He evidently knew he was guilty of plenty!

So was the apostle Paul. He knew he had personally done wrong and sinned against God. He wrote, “I was formerly a blasphemer, a persecutor, and an insolent man” (1 Timothy 1 v 13). He even called himself the “chief” of sinners (v.15).

We too were once separated from the Lord because of our sin and were considered His enemies (Romans 5 v 10; Colossians 1 v 21). But when we confessed our sin and acknowledged our need for His forgiveness, He cleansed us and made us new.

Those of us who have known the Lord for many years may have the tendency to forget what we’ve been rescued from and forgiven of. Sharing about our past and current failures and giving praise to God for forgiveness will help us not to come across as “holier-than-thou” to people who don’t yet know the Lord.

The truth is we’ve all been guilty of plenty, and God deserves the glory for His mercy toward us.
